Dear Redistribution Committee,

Thank you for your hard work in the allocation of seats in New South Wales.

I am very disappointed however, in the eradication of the seat of North Sydney. I have been involved in grassroots politics in the last five years , as have many of my family and friends.

Many people in Australia have become disillusioned with party politics. Remarkably in Warringah and North Sydney I have found the opposite. Many people in these communities are supporting their local independent member with pride and enthusiasm. This Democratic engagement is creating better societies I feel.

Therefore I'm sincerely hoping the seat of North Sydney will remain. I think we need more gender equity in our parliament and these Independent women are very beneficial to social cohesion for the whole country.

Thank you for your attention .

Yours sincerely
Catherine Willis
