I would like to add my support for Suggestion 22 by Kylea Tink MP.

The outcome of the last Federal Election was notable for the number of Independent MPs who were advocating a change in the way Politics has been handled, of which number Kylea Tink was one.

Having been soundly beaten at the ballot box, it is quite predictable that the established Political Parties would try to rig the system against the Independents (one of the very few points that they agree on is that they don't want anyone to be allowed to rock the cosy Political boat).

The AEC should reject the suggestions by the established Political Parties as a cynical exercise designed to prevent the operation of a genuine Democracy and implement Kylea Tink's eminently sensible suggestion instead.
